Questions to consider this week:

1. How does the book of Nahum point us to the Gospel? How does the “good news” of Nahum relate to the “good news” of Jesus?
2. When we see evil being done by someone, how should we respond? God cares about compassion as well as justice, so how do we live according to both of those ideas?
3. Practically, what does it look like to battle against evil in this world? Are there places we long to see victory, either in ourselves or the world around us? What is holding us back, or what steps need to be taken?

“The sting of death is sin, and the power of the sin is the law. But thanks be to God, who gives us victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.”

(1 Corinthians 15:56-57; ESV)
